Washington—Since it seems to be generally conceded that America is in the midst of an era of almost unprecedented prosperity, the prophets and the experts are busily engaged in examining the future to determine whether the condition is temporary or part of an epoch of indefinite duration.The nearest parallel is that of the boom years of 1919 and 1920 when as a result of the war, manufacturing facilities were geared up to a high curve of production and markets were being well supplied with American goods all over the world only to have the process suddenly reversed by the general instability of political and consequently economic conditions in Europe.

CAUSES OF PROSPERITY

This is only another way of saying that many experts are of the opinion that today's prosperity is due to the remarkable changes which have come about, in Europe since 1920, particularly the Dawes formula for the handling of reparations and the quiet
but steady acceptance of Germany
into the fold of commercial nations.On the horizon today there are no war clouds such as have kept importers and exporters on the anxious seat
in the past.Whether this is due to a recognition by Europe itself of the large responsibilities involved in keeping peace under economic burdens of whether it is due to the recognition abroad of the necessity of paying off war debts, the truth is Europe is in a better economic mood it was five years ago and the purchasing power of Europe currency with some few exceptions has made itself felt in the quantity of American goods sold in foreign markets throughout the world.It took a long time for some observers to concede that political and economic problems were inseparably
interwoven, but now that the principle has been recognized it will be noted that Germany is being accepted on terms of equality at last in the league of nations and that war hatreds
are ebbing gradually so that the economic interchange is being less and less affected by politics.The Balkans are quiet and the only doubtful situation has been that of France, which also gives signs of a recovery. It is admitted that American bankers stand ready to do big things for the re-financing of French indebtedness of the present determination to handle the problem evidenced by the Folsom reforms continues with undiminished vigor.INFLUENCE OF EUROPE
There are two schools of thought,
of course, in America—that which insists that European situation has nothing to do with the general trend of American economic condition and that which argues always along the line of evidence of the present determination on the latter side because of the remarkable growth of American exports.
The bulk of American production is consumed by the United States itself
but so long as the surplus is taken by the rest of the world many manufacturers feel that they can continue to expand and to pay good wages.
They are learning rapidly to compete in the export market.The flurry in Spain is not expected here to be of long enough duration to affect the economic situation of the world. What happens in Spain can only remotely affect those few countries in Europe which buy and sell goods there, for a domestic revolution
never has the ill-effect on commerce that occurs when there is a war between states. Even Mexico showed remarkable gains in exports and imports during some of the years of extensive revolution.On the whole, therefore, the growing stability of the European countries
and the undisturbed condition of commerce throughout the world has been a big factor in American prosperity.

MAN KILLED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

HUNT SLAYER
IN AXE DEATH
AT ROADHOUSEVictim Is Identified as Soldier of Fortune in Mexican RevoltsKenosha—(AP)—Along the road where one body of Jackson D. Carlisle, tailoring salesman and soldier of fortune,
was found early Monday with an axe wound in the neck, deputy sheriffs searched Tuesday for the axe with which the crime was committed.From questions put to friends of the man and from evidence, at the scene where the body was found, the time of the murder was fixed at 3 and 5 o'clock Monday morning.
Mrs. Zelene Carlisle, the man's wife, fainted repeatedly Tuesday as she was questioned for two hours by Kenosha officials, but she told substantially the same story told Monday to Chicago police, and she was sent to the home of friends here to rest and prepare herself for further questioning
Tuesday afternoon. The sheriff is convinced that she had no knowledge of the slaying or its motives.

PICKED UP IN CAR

Carlisle could not have walked from the roadhouse where he and his wife and friends were having a party to the place where his body was found,
officials concluded Tuesday, and they deduced that he was picked up in a motor car, perhaps by somebody who was lying in wait for him. A casual glimpse at the road house, as yet unidentified, who was reproached by Carlisle during the party because he had been absent, was absolved of any possible
share in the crime, however, by other road house guests who said he remained at the place for two hours after Carlisle,
who had been drinking, left the party
and wandered out into the night.

WAS SOLDIER OF FORTUNE

Chicago—(AP)—Jackson D. Carlisle, victim of a midnight murder mystery
on a lonely road near Twin lakes, and known in Chicago only as a prospective clothing salesman was revealed Tuesday as Jack Carlisle, known in Mexico, and the turbulent republics to the south as an adventurous fighting figure, a swashbuckling soldier of fortune.Carlisle was found on a little travelled dirt road a half mile from Twin lakes early Monday. His body lay face downward in a crimson pool
his throat slashed as by a sharp ax
or a cleaver his head almost severed
from his body.Among theories advanced by detectives was one that Carlisle might have been slain by some enemy of his old fighting days. The possibility that he might have been struck by an automobile was considered also,
but police believed that his wounds
could only have been made by an ax or cleaver.Carlisle was known up and down
the Mexican border in 1912 when the Orosco-Salazar revolution was in progress. He was in progress. He was a pal of Santa Drexler and of Richardson, known as a machine gunner in Latin-American revolutions, and known nearly all members of the soldier of fortune fraternity. He rode out of Juarez with General Inez Salazar and General Emiliano Campa to Chihuahua where those two men were battling for the overthrow of Francisco Madero and took part in some of the fiercest fighting of the revolution, which eventually failed.Decide Political Issues in State Primary TodayMilwaukee—(AP)—Wisconsin is settling the issues brought out in one of the most heated primary campaigns
in its history at the polls Tuesday.
Nominees as Republican candidates
for United States senate, governor, representatives in congress and state offices will be decided in the balloting which will close at 5 o'clock in the afternoon in the four districts and at 8 o'clock in the evening in the cities. There is no Democratic contest.Irvine L. Lenroot, United States senator, seeking re-nomination is opposed by John J. Blaine, governor of Wisconsin, the LaFollette candidate for the office and Frank J. Kelly, who made the race on a wet platform.

campaign has been waged over thePRINCE OF WALES TO

YEAR, HE DECLARESParis—(AP)—The prince of Wales is going to the United States next year, says a dispatch to the Paris edition of the New York Herald from Biarritz where the prince is on a vacation.
The correspondent says the prince told Alexander P. Moore, former United States ambassador to Spain, that he regretted that he was unable to go to the sequicentennial at Philadelphia.
"But I am surely going to America next year" the prince is quoted as having said. "And I am looking forward to my second visit with great pleasure."WORLD COURT VOTE ISSUE IN FOUR STATESFight Is Carried to People in Wisconsin, New Hampshire
Arizona and NevadaWashington, D. C.—(AP)—Adhesion of the United States to the world court figured among prominent issues
Tuesday as voters in four states went to the polls to nominate various party candidates including those for United States senator.Wide interest centered on the fight in Wisconsin where Senator Irvine L.
Lenroot, leader of the administration's successful campaign for American membership in the world court,
is opposed for the Republican nomination by Governor John J. Blaine, and the concentrated forces under the banner of the late Senator Robert
M. La Follette.The New Hampshire contest of Senator George H. Moses, president pro tempore of the senate, to retain his seat, has been featured by the charge
of his principal Republican opponent, former Governor Robert P. Bass, that the Bass campaign headquarters had been entered at night and several documents stolen. A third Republican senatorial candidate is James W.
Benick, Concord, former judge of the state supreme court.Charges of excessive expenditures have been made by candidates in both the Wisconsin New Hampshire campaigns.In Arizona, Senator Ralph H. Cameron was unopposed for the Republican nomination but in the Democratic primary Representative Cor-
Hayden was opposed by Charles H.
Rutherford, Phoenix attorney.In Nevada Senator Tasker L. Odde, who voted for adhesion to the world
court was opposed for the Republican nomination by Mayor E. E. Roberts of Reno court opponent and father-in-law of Walter Johnson, Washington American League baseball team
pitcher.Four candidates stood for the Democratic nomination—Raymond T. Baker, director of the mint under President Woodrow Wilson; Patrick M.
Carran, former justice of the state supreme court; Dr. W. H. Brennan of Eureka, and C. H. McIntosh, former chairman of the Democratic central committee.state with national issues holding a high place in the efforts of the triumvirate to sway the voters to their support.
LENROOT STANDS ON RECORD
Senator Lenroot has stood on his record in the senate. The outstanding issue has been his position as leader of the administration's successful fight for American adherence to the world court.This position has been the subject of a concentrated attack by Governor Blaine and his supporters especially in the campaign waged in his behalf
by Senator Robert M. LaFollette, who has been in the field for his candidacy during the last few weeks.
The prohibition issue also has been a factor in the campaign aside fromDIES 3 HOURS

ON DALE ROADAlbert Peotter Dead and Son
George Injured When
Cars CollideOne man is dead and another suffered painful injuries as the result of traffic accidents in Outagamie-co
over the double holiday.Albert Peotter, 64 years old, 1202 N. Division-st., died at St. Elizabeth hospital at 5 o'clock Monday afternoon from injuries received in an automobile collision at the junction of state trunk highway 18 and 26 at Leppa's corners, six miles from Appleton, at 1:15.His son George, driving an open touring car, was taken to the hospital
with a possible fractured collar bone
and minor injuries.According to reports of the accident
the Peotter machine was being driven east on highway 18 and the other car
south on 26 when the mishap occur-
ed. The rear end of the Peotter car was stove in and it tipped over on the pavement, throwing both Peotters clear of the wreckage.

FIGHTS AGAINST TREE

J. Bell, 429 Oakwood-ave, Highland, Ill., driver of the second machine with his wife and two children, escaped injury. The Bell car swerved off the road after the impact, ran up on the Leppa lawn, and was brought to a stop when it hit a tree.
The car was not badly damaged and Mr. Bell was able to drive away.Kuntz's ambulance was called and at the time it appeared neither man
was seriously injured. The elder Mr.
Peotter suffered obvious scalp wounds
and injuries to his right hip, first reports indicated. However, he died about 3 hours after arriving at the hospital.George Peotter's condition had improved so by Tuesday morning that it was expected he would be able to leave the hospital during the day.
District Attorney John A. Lonsdorf
said Tuesday that his office continued an official investigation of the accident although no intimation had been received that speeding or gross negligence was involved in the instance of either driver.

ONE WITNESS

According to a report filed with Appleton police Melvin Groelmont, 1503
N. Division-st., was the only witness of the accident in which the Peotters were injured.Funeral services will be held for Mr. Peotter at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon from the home. Rev Theodore Marth of Zion Lutheran church, will be in charge. Burial will be in Riverside cemetery.The dead man is survived by his

a "thrill" cost the life of Kenneth Schaeffer, 17, Madison, near here
Monday.Schaeffer was crushed to death near Addison, Ill., when a home-made plane
piloted by Forest Yeager, Oak Park, Ill., collapsed and crashed 200 feet
to earth. Yeager was injured seriously.The Madison boy had caddied during the morning for Irwin Pray, brother-in-law of Yeager who promised the youth a thrill in a flight above
the clouds. Eagerly the youth walked three miles to where the plane was parked and while his parents and sister Mrs. Irwin Pray watched flew over the links of the Brookwood country club. Then something went wrong and the plane hurtled to the ground.
Schaeffer was killed instantly.Do Your Duty As Citizen
And Vote In The Primaries"Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty!"
This oft-quoted saying means that if you do not go to the polls and vote in the primaries and on election day, that some day you will wake up to find that some of your liberties and pleasures have vanished. That is the reason voting is called a duty rather than a privilege. It is good citizens that make every effort to arrange their affairs in such a way as to be able to vote.Persons who do not cast their ballots on election day have no right to complain if the affairs of government do not along as they think they should go. If they do complain no one pays any attention to them for politicians listen only to voters who make themselves felt on election day.
Every man and every woman who is of legal age and a citizen are not privileged to vote if they please, but they are required by their duty as citizens to cast their ballots.In order to vote properly one must have some knowledge of the candidates who are seeking office, and of the problems that are before the public officials. This calls for some interest in public affairs as they are unfolded day by day in official reports, the news of the day, and similar sources.1,274 VOTERS AT

day morning enroute to Tallahassee,
Fla., the architect at Spring Green, Wis. She said she planned to make another attempt to gain admission to Tallahassee.Mrs. Wright stormed the Wright estate last June, but was repelled by guards. She said her new attempt to enter the place, which she still calls
"home" although she has not lived there for more than two years, was influenced by the departure of Wright and Olga Milanoff his companion of recent months.Search for Wright and Miss Milan-
off took a new turn Tuesday. Vindi-

Miss Milanoff, said here Tuesday morning that he intended to telegraph

watch for the couple there.Hinzberg, who returned to Madison from Chicago to continue his efforts to obtain custody of his 6-year-old daughter from his former wife, said he believes Wright and Olga are enroute to Seattle.

GETS INJUNCTION

Dodgeville—(AP)—Assistance of the courts was obtained here Tuesday by Mrs. Wright in her efforts to take possession of Tallahassee. Circuit court Commissioner E. R. Reese issued an injunction Tuesday morning restrain-ing persons at the estate from interfering with Mrs. Wright in her attempt to enter it. The injunction was requested by Harold Jackson, Chicago attorney as the first step in proceedings which he said he would institute in court here to give Mrs.
Wright possession of the place.MILLIONAIRE DIES ON rectors of the Pittsburgh Coal company, the northern Furniture company, and the Security National bank of Sheboygan. Besides these he also served as a member of the board of directors of the Reiss Steamship company and a trustee of the Northwes-

ENGINEER DID NOT SEE STOP
SIGN IN TIMELabor Day Special Crashes
into Rear of Suburban Near Chicago Loop

100 PERSONS INJURED

All Dead and Most Injured
Passengers Were Residents of ChicagoChicago—(AP)—A Chicago and Northwestern suburban train brought death
and injury to scores of Chicagoans returning from Labor day outings Sunday night when it telescoped the rear of a holiday special, which was discharging passengers at an outlying station. Four men from the Loop, 100 hours of labor in the debris of two wrecked cars, wooden coaches pressed into holiday service brought the toll of identified dead to five and the list of injured to approximately 100 persons. All the dead and most of the injured were from Chicago.The special was the third section of a train made up at Elroy, Wis., and had just stopped to discharge several passengers when the suburban train
from Barrington, Ill., rounded a curve
and plowed into the rear coach, pushing the last one into the car ahead.Passengers, many of them women and children, were crushed as the coaches telescoped, and hundreds of firemen and police worked feverishly for hours to free them. Their efforts were hampered by fire despite the fact that the suburban engine fell on its side. The entire scene was hampered with live steam for some time.

RAN FAST SIGNAL

Engineer Lester Smith of the suburban train, placed under arrest when found in a state of collapse at a hospital, admitted running past a warning block signal but blamed the wreck
on failure to have a brakeman far enough back of the special, and the approach of the outboard train which led him to turn his head.Smith said that when he saw the yellow caution light he applied all the brakes and was proceeding at less than 15 miles an hour when after switching on the headlight again its glare revealed the special a few yards ahead.James McLean, towerman at the station and Paulus Lady, Smith's fireman, also were questioned, and George Eiling, flagman of the special,
was sought.

HEROISM OF INJURED

Railroad, city and Cook-co. officials initiated investigations among other things to determine whether Smith proceeded before ordered to, or whether the special was instructed to stop
at Cylbourn Station.The dead:
Stanley Zubek, 49; Mrs. Antoinette Symons, 35; Mrs. Bessie Simon; Mrs. Marie Adams 32, and Ralph Becklein, 5.Tragedy and heroism mingled before the eyes of the thousands who flocked to the scene handicapping the work of rescuers. The last man carried from the debris died puffing a cigaret until he lit it at a moment before, while another man, his body crushed between two seats, accepted a sip of water and then directed workers to turn to their attention to others.
When he was finally freed, it was discovered his foot had been severed at the ankle.

JUMPS THROUGH WINDOW

A 60-year old woman, Mrs. William Crater, threw herself through a window just before the crash and escaped with minor injuries.
Edward Becklein, a bookbinder, explained to friends that on his first vacation in three years he had taken to see their new Wisconsin farm his wife and small son who he understood were injured but doing well. He later identified the child's body.Several eye witnesses stated that the wreck could in part be charged to the routing of the trains, so that the approach of the outboard train obscured
the standing special from Engineer Smith's view. The engineer told police that he didn't see the train ahead
until his locomotive rounded a curve
and was within a few lengths of the last coach.

WILL RESTRICT ATTENDANCE AT TRADE SCHOOL

Students Who Have Not Completed Full Time Attendance Cannot Enter

Boys and girls who have not completed all legal requirements of full time school attendance will not be able to attend the Appleton vocational school this year, according to the director of the school. The crowded conditions indicated by advance registration this week will not permit the entrance of any students not strictly within these requirements.

"The Appleton vocational school is a school for working boys and girls and none are eligible except those who can qualify for working permits," the director said. No person under 14 years and no person not having completed an eighth grade education or nine years beyond kinder garden in an attempt to complete the eighth grade may be permitted to attend the school.

Registration applicants must bring proof of the completion of the eighth grade, it was said. Blanks may be secured at the vocational school office and are to be taken to the grade teacher or principal under whom the student was registered. Legal proof of the age of registrants also is required. This may be either a birth certificate obtainable from the registrar of deeds at the county courthouse, or a baptismal record if the birth certificate is not obtainable.

Students are asked to bring these age and school proofs with them when they register as this will save the school authorities and students in convenience and time.

The vocational school evening classes will be started the first week in October, the director said. These classes give an opportunity to young people over 15 years of age to get further vocational training. The day classes will not be able to take care of any persons over 15 years this year if the actual enrollment indicated by advance registration is maintained.

REDUCE AGE LIMIT FOR MEMBERSHIP IN Y. M. C. A.

Boys of Appleton between the ages of 10 and 12 may become members of the Y. M. C. A. starting this year, according to a new ruling of the association announced by John W. Pugh, boys' work secretary. The boys will be members of the preparatory or "prep" class, which the local association sponsored once before for a year. They will meet one day a week for gymnasium, swimming and club and social work.

The minimum age limit formerly was 11 years, but with the establishment of the new class it will be 12 for the regular boys' division members. Boys between 10 and 12 can join the new class at any time, Mr. Pugh said.

WARN MERCHANTS TO WATCH FOR THIEVES

Police and merchants of Appleton and other cities of the Fox River Valley have been warned to be on watch for two comely women shoplifters believed to be working south from Eau Claire.

The women, according to reports, are specializing in valuable fur coats. Their modus operandi is for one to try on coats and the other to do the actual stealing.

In Eau Claire two coats valued at $500 each were reported stolen.

Elmer Lemke, 316 W. Commercial, was taken ill with appendicitis Sunday when visiting at Pickers lake. An ambulance was called from Audigo, and Mr. Lemke was operated on at an Antigo hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Ray and Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Driscoll spent the week end at Eagle river.

How To Remove Eighty-eight Different Kinds of Stains.

Perhaps you do not realize how many different kinds of stains can disfigure people's clothes.

It is almost impossible for anyone to escape having food stains on clothing at some time or other.

What would you do if you upset the ink bottle on an expensive table cover, spilled medicine on your best suit, ruined a gown with paint stains, or scorched the newest linen tablecloth?

All of these things happen every day. But there is a remedy for every blemish you may get on your clothing and household linens.

These are all listed in a 36 page booklet, with illustrations, which this Bureau has for distribution. Fill out the attached coupon and enclose four cents in stamps for return postage and handling. Write your name and address clearly.

World Looks Black As Bell Starts 9 Months Of School

Summer vacation and bare feet have passed and in their places have come school and new stiff shoes, at least so a large part of the younger population of Appleton looked at the change in their mode of living Tuesday morning. The morning jumps in this creek have given way to far journeys through the world with a geography book, and the little extra snooze in bed has passed for the rigid discipline of the alarm clock.

Green Bay Candidate for Attorney General Reports Expense of $1,695.46

Madison, Wis.—(P)—John Reynolds, candidate for the Republican nomination for attorney general in Tuesday primary has reported campaign expenditures of $1,695.46. State Treasurer Solomon Levitan, candidate for always a questionable matter, one did not quite know whether there were any there. But now there is an unnatural peace and quiet around the house without their tramping feet and calling voices, and perhaps Mother feels a little lonely without the excess noise, dirt and general disturbance.

How Many Horses Will One Pole Carry?

The answer is almost any number you wish, when you are talking about electrical horses or horsepower."

Wires to deliver 50,000 electrical horsepower can be supported on the same poles that would be needed to carry wires delivering only 10,000 horsepower.

This is only one of the economies that are brought about by the building of large, efficient power plants that deliver energy to many cities and rural districts, through interconnected systems.

MEXICAN BISHOP WILL SPEAK ON RELIGIOUS WAR

Address Is Part of Program
at M. E. Church Conference Here

Bishop George A. Miller of Mexico, who is well versed on the religious situation in that country, will give an address in Appleton at 8 o'clock next Wednesday evening at First Methodist church. Bishop Miller's address is a part of the program for the eightieth annual meeting of the Wisconsin Conference of Methodist Episcopal churches, which opens here next Tuesday, and will continue until Monday, Sept. 13.

Bishop Miller was born in 1868 at Nendom, Ill. He was educated at the University of Southern California and Leland Stanford university. After having pastored at Hanford and Fresno, Cal., he went to the Philippines as a missionary spending two years at Manila.

After his work in Manila, he returned to California where he was pastor of the First M. E. church at San Jose and the Grace M. E. church at San Francisco. He then went to Central America as superintendent of the Panama mission in 1916, where he stayed until 1919.

In 1919 he became secretary of the Centenary Movement for all South America and in 1923 he returned to Panama as superintendent of the mission. He was elected bishop of Mexico in 1924 at the General Conference. Bishop Miller has written several books including "The Efficient Life," "China Inside Out," and "Prowling About Panama."

He is well versed in the subject on which he will talk, the Religious Controversy, and he will disclose many interesting facts about conditions in Mexico. He has studied the conditions there from his home in Mexico City, the center of the religious fight.

BERLIN HAS PUZZLE FOR MARRIED FOLKS

Berlin—(P)—Berlin's dog days find married couples indulging in a new tangled substitute for the crossword puzzle. This is proving into the mysteries of the figures 352.

Some one discovered that these figures invariably come from adding the following: The year of ones birth, ones age, the year of marriage and the number of years married.

The puzzle, which is bewildering to most people, rests on the obvious fact that 3552 equals twice 1926, and that the year of birth, plus present age always equals 1926, as does the year of marriage plus the number of years of the duration of the marriage.

ACTRESS POKES FUN AT NEWSPAPER ACCURACY

London—(P)—Miss Gertrude Kingston, actress, thinks she has a good joke on the ship news reporters at New York.

"The last time that I was there," she says, "the newspapermen told me that if I would tell them things about Shaw, Masfield, Dells and other celebrities, they would be careful to keep tightly to what I said. I mentioned that Mr. Shaw was NOT a cold hearted man; that he had helped many a lame dog over the stile. The next day I found myself reported as saying that Mr. Shaw regularly gave away three fifths of his income."

INVENT DEVICE FOR COMBATING MASHERS

Berlin—(P)—An anti-mashers device, which looks like a wrist watch and can knock out an assailant by means of a low amperage electric shock of 1,000 volts, is being recommended to ogilrs by a number of policemen.

The contrivance, invented by Emil Prouess of Gelsenkirchen, is worn on the wrist. Thin wires connect it with a tiny battery and induction coil carried in an inside pocket of a dress or the coat pocket of a man. When needed the wearer presses a button, swings at the bad man so as to touch his body and the fight is over.

HI-Y CLUB BOYS COMPLETE CAMP PERIOD AT LAKE

Members Return from State
Y. M. C. A. Camp at Boulder Junction

Five members of the Hi-Y club, accompanied by John W. Pugh, club leader, and Harry B. Lieth, returned Friday evening from a 10-day encampment at Camp Manitowish, Boulder Junction, state Y. M. C. A. camp. The boys, Arthur Smith, Robert Eads, Russell Denyes, Aloysius Gage and Francis McAllister, attended the Hi-Y period of the camp. Mark Catlin, Jr., also spent several days there. The Appleton delegation was quartered in North cottage, one of the newest cottages on the lake. After the regular conference period of a week, the boys took a three-day canoe trip before returning home. The Appleton group, with the exception of Harry Lieth, who lead a group to Cisco, Mich., made the trip to Winegar, Wis.

During the first seven days meetings were held among the boys representing practically every Hi-Y club in the state, and a program for all state clubs to follow for 1926-27 was prepared. Every one of the Appleton boys and leaders served on committees. In preparing the state program, John W. Pugh was leader of the service tasks group, with Aloysius Gage a member. Robert Eads served on the membership committee, Arthur Smith on the program group, Harry Lieth on carry-over work, Russell Denyes on Junior Hi-Y, and Francis McAllister on "clean up" topics.

Reports of the committees were

DIRTY POLITICS

This is post-election comment. The primary vote is in, but before the result is announced we cannot refrain from making reference to another election fraud. Last week at the conclusion of the campaign the National Association Opposed to Prohibition ran a page advertisement in the newspapers of Wisconsin. The Post-Crescent included, calling on the people to elect Blaine if they wanted beer. It proves to be another of the tricks employed in the campaign to defeat Senator Lenroot. The farmers have been lied to elect a man who has never done them a good turn, and to retire one of the best friends and allies they have in the senate. Labor had been lied to in a similar way, in favor of a worthless poser, and against a sincere champion. Last, the modificationists were appealed to with a gratuitous libel of Senator Lenroot by falsely representing him as opposed to their aim, and the delusion that Blaine will help them. The Wisconsin branch of the association opposed to prohibition justly resents this unfair interference from national headquarters. It has denounced the beer ad for Blaine as unfair and untrue, and an eleventh hour advertisement published in the Milwaukee papers. Sunday has strongly endorsed Senator Lenroot as the best bet for modification of the Volstead act. It does this, it says, because Lenroot has expressed the opinion that 2.75 per cent beer is non-intoxicating, and promises to help get it if the people want it, and because he is the only one from Wisconsin who can have any influence at Washington to get it. Mr. Lenroot's record is proof of square dealing and ability to deliver. Blaine's record is worse than a blank, and at Washington he could do nothing, even if he tried.

Mr. Lenroot has been attacked by the liquor ring, for voting to submit the eighteenth amendment, this despite the fact that Wisconsin ratified the amendment. Was he respecting the rights of his constituents by his action, or was he not? He did not vote for prohibition—he voted to submit the question to the people. He is willing to do the same now. What could be fairer? He refuses to represent the liquor ring or the Anti-Saloon League. He represents only the people and will carry out their wishes. When it comes to liquor, one must be for all that liquor wants, its excesses and all, regardless of what the people want, or be damned. Blaine and the working-man's beer is an empty phrase. The modifications of Wisconsin saw the situation instantly, as they officially repudiate Blaine. This frankness and honesty was probably too late to overcome the damage to Lenroot from the National Association's canard, but it is interesting at least for its justness and discernment.

The incident shows up what is characteristic of the whole campaign to squeeze Blaine into the senate. Every evil and vicious force in the state is back of him, every scandalous tongue, every group which is out for spoils and special favor or protection, every agency that means to impose on the people and "use" the government for gain, every politician that stoops to misrepresentation and falsehoods. No other campaign, no other methods, could hope to win. Through it all Senator Lenroot stands out in bold relief by his simple honesty, decency and courage, as the true advocate of popular rights, a faithful public servant and a man to whom integrity and honor are more than office. Have the people been deceived? Have labor and the farmer in particular been deceived? A few hours will tell.

MORE SENSE IN EUROPE

The impasse suffered by the League of Nations last spring in the effort to bring Germany into the League has been quickly and satisfactorily dissolved at the postponed meeting now in progress at Geneva. The trouble at that time was over the proposal to give Germany a permanent seat in the League council. Spain, Brazil and Czechoslovakia not only opposed Germany's admission on this basis, but demanded permanent seats themselves. Czechoslovakia was urged to her course by France in order to balance German influence in the council. Spain and Brazil wanted seats to satisfy their vanities. The two latter threatened to resign if their demands were not acceded to. No agreement could be reached and the matter was put off until Fall for further consideration.

No sooner had the commission for reorganization of the council assembled than it adopted a project put forward by France, Germany and England to terminate the dispute over council membership by increasing the number of non-permanent councillors from six to nine, with three of these to be nominated for a special category of semi-permanent tenure. It is the understanding that Spain, Brazil and Czechoslovakia are to have these semi-permanent seats. Germany is to come in as originally planned, with a permanent seat, which is of course what she is entitled to and without which she would decline to become a member.

Thus the difficulties of a few months ago, which were magnified throughout Europe and the United States as seriously jeopardizing the existence and future of the League, have yielded to commonsense and justice. Europe is so used to the sudden development of an internal crisis out of nothing, or next to nothing, that it looked with grave misgiving on the deadlock of last spring. That its statesmanship is on a better and higher plane, and its diplomacy more frank and open, is indicated by the successful termination of the dispute.

Inasmuch as the entrance of Germany into the League, on a basis satisfactory to the League as a whole, was essential to the carrying out of the Locarno treaties, it was absolutely necessary that this be accomplished. The League could not function without Germany, and Germany, France and England could not wash out their old enmities and distrust and live in future understanding and peace without the Locarno treaties. The Geneva settlement is of the greatest significance and value. It is another great step forward toward the permanent conciliation of Europe.

MR. MADDEN'S FAUX PAS

Representative Martin Madden of Illinois, chairman of the House Appropriations committee, in his eager search for front page publicity, might well have foregone his most recent experiment of advising the treasury department to engineer another tax cut instead of following the policy of retirement of the national debt, for there the worthy congressman committed a faux pas.

For he apparently did not realize that the foreign debt settlements, which have been negotiated by this government with England, Italy and other nations, permit those countries to pay their installments in Liberty bonds. Under this arrangement, if the debts are paid in such securities, which is very likely, since the other nations will seek to conserve their gold, it would be impossible for this government to do anything else but retire the bonds, which is the same thing as so much retirement of the national debt.

Representative Madden has had his share of popularity as the result of the great tax reductions, which he vociferously demanded and helped get through, but he has yet to learn the discretion that distinguishes the true statesman and diplomat from the amateur. "A still tongue makes a wise head," says the old proverb, and in this case at least Mr. Madden would have profited greatly by following that precept.

There's one way for a man to be born in his home. He can send the family away for a vacation.

Jack Dempsey may not be able to come back, but he certainly is good at talking back.

Distance doesn't lend any enchantment when you run out of gas.

You just simply can't teach an onion to hold its breath.

WATCH THE CHILDREN GROW

When does a child grow?
Every hour from birth until from 15 to 25 years if growth is not interfered with.

Most of this growth is general development. But there is normally a steady increase in height up to about the age of 20 years. The rate of growth in height is not constant, but gradually decreases from the first to the twentieth year.

A healthy infant grows about nine inches the first year, four inches the second year, 3½ the third year, three the fourth year, 2½ the fifth year, two the sixth and two inches each year thereafter until the age of 11 or 12.

The rate of growth in height is the same for boys and girls up to the ages of 10. About the age of 10 the girls begin to grow faster than the boys, a healthy girl growing about 2½ inches from 11 to 12, and a boy only 1½ inches in that year. By the age 14 the boys are growing 2½ inches and the girls only two inches. The year from age 15 to age 16 a normal boy grows 2½ inches and a normal girl only 2½ inches.

A boy grows another inch or perhaps a little over an inch from 16 to 17, and a girl only half an inch or less. A boy grows half an inch from 17 to 18 and a girl none at all to speak of.

Girls are through gaining in height when they arrive at their nineteenth birthday anniversary.

Any fault of hygiene—that is, any unhealthful living habit or condition—which impairs nutrition may retard or prevent normal growth in stature. For instance, as a rule, though not without occasional exception, the child who drinks tea or coffee who cultivates the tobacco habit suffers retarded growth. Children who do not get sufficient direct sunlight on the naked skin are likely to remain underweight. Boys and girls in their teens who cultivate late hours generally show retarded growth. The person who hits the hay regularly at 10 o'clock in the winter and not later than 10:30 in summer nights is most likely to attain full stature.

Adequate physical training—a part of education to which too many young persons are permitted to dodge—has been found to favor growth in stature. Boys and girls in their teens who receive proper physical education attain from two to three inches greater height than boys and girls who are less fortunate in their schooling. The rigid or severe discipline and physical training in military institutions bring about an increase in height. The namby pamby pampering of boys and girls in the common schools tends to retard growth.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

DANGER
Please advise whether an operation for chronic appendicitis in a woman aged 35 is apt to be dangerous. She has a son aged 4 years. (P. C. C.)

Answer—No. The danger lies in the chronic appendicitis unremedied.

Tea Versus Coffee

Which is best for people to drink, tea or coffee? I drink coffee for breakfast and tea for lunch and supper. (E. S.)

Answer—It is a matter of taste. Tea is a healthful as coffee for normal adults. Children under 16 should not be permitted to have either, because the stimulation of the brain, spinal cord, heart, and kidneys produced by these beverages is undesirable in childhood, however wholesome or desirable it may be for healthy adults. Milk is the health beverage for children. Fresh raw milk, pasteurized or brought to a boil for a minute if there is any uncertainty as to its purity.

The First Cost of Cable-Nelson Pianos is the Last Cost

A first class piano will give 20 to 25 years of service without a moment's dissatisfaction. Outside of an occasional tuning, which all pianos should have, it rarely needs to be touched.

Such pianos are CABLE-NELSONS. Their first moderate cost is their whole cost. Even CABLE-NELSON player-pianos, with their hundreds of extra parts, need but little or no attention from one year's end to another. They are played, day in and day out, for singing, dancing and instrumental music, yet they very seldom have to be touched, even by so much as a screwdriver.

If you procure a CABLE-NELSON, you are guaranteed satisfaction. The makers guarantee it and we guarantee it.

SCHIPA CALLED GREATEST TENOR IN WHOLE WORLD

Noted Italian Singer Coming Here to Sing Community Artist Program

Tito Schipa, the celebrated tenor of the Chicago Opera will appear at Lawrence Memorial chapel on October 26 as part of the Community Artist series, probably the greatest living tenor. Carl J. Watkinson, dean of Lawrence conservatory said.

The tremendous fame of Tito Schipa has spread throughout America as well as Europe. He is known as the tenor universally beloved because of his beautiful voice, and because he sings the programs the people love and appreciate.

Schipa was born in Lecce where he entered the conservatory, when quite young, for piano study. He became an accomplished musician and composer before his voice had matured. Making his debut in "La Traviata" he won such repute in the smaller cities of Italy that he was called to Milan where he again made his debut in the same opera and sang in "La Sonnambula" with Mme. Galli-Curci.

He later went to Spain and then South America, where he added to his laurels. From Buenos Aires, Schipa went to Chicago, making his debut as premier lyric tenor of the Chicago Opera company where his outstanding achievements have established him as one of the truly great personalities of the music world. During the past four years he has won repute in concert as well as on the operatic stage.

"Tito Schipa, it is said, has the rare ability to interpret both the purely lyrical and vividly dramatic in his programs and has a personality strongly magnetic and keenly appealing. When he was only a boy people flocked from the whole section near his home to hear him sing. In his early youth he composed a mass of such high order. It is said that the bishop commanded its performance in the cathedral at Lecce.

Included on the program for the Community Artist series this year will be Sousa and his famous band on October 14; the English Singers of London on February 21; a joint recital by Leo Ornstein, composer pianist, and Henry Farberman, violinist, and the New York Little Symphony orchestra on March 25.

WORLD'S GREATEST TENOR

TITO SCHIPA SAID TO BE THE GREATEST OF THE WORLD'S GREAT TENORS WILL SING ONE OF THE FIVE SPLENDID PROGRAMS OF THE COMMUNITY ARTISTS SERIES HERE THIS YEAR. HE WILL SING HERE ON OCT. 26.

FARMERS BRINGING IN EARLY CABBAGE

Farmers are beginning to haul their early crop of cabbage to Appleton for shipment to the large buyers at Chicago and other points. Farmers report that although the early cabbage is of excellent quality, the yield per acre is much smaller than usual. Cabbage is selling at about $5 per ton at the present time. This price is much lower than that for early cabbage last year, which was about $30 per ton.

40,000 YEARS OLD
London—A skull said to be 40,000 years old has been found at Gibraltar and was shipped to England for the meeting of the British Association at Oxford. Another skull discovered in the vicinity in 1840, was said to be a remnant of the Neanderthal race.

Ask Hunters To Desist From Shooting Pigeons

Homing pigeon clubs throughout the state are concentrating on a drive requesting hunters to refrain from shooting at pigeons. Pigeon owners and racers are looking forward to the homecoming of their birds, the clubs point out, with as much anxiety as the owner of a good race horse. To willfully shoot pigeons is a crime and a disgrace to the offender, pigeon clubs state.

Many hunters after spending a day in the woods or on the streams with but luck, will shoot at anything and many times they injure the racing pigeons. Many pigeon owners report that their birds have arrived home with a shot wound.

Far pigeons have enough natural tendency to fight against in a race, the club say, without having hunters shooting at them along the course. They must fight the natural elements the winds, rains and storms and many times they fly for hours at a stretch without eating or resting. The clubs appeal to the sportsmanship of hunting men.

"Give the birds a chance," they say.

Many men think that they know an ordinary pigeon from a racing pigeon but bird owners state that only experts can do this and hunt ers should not shoot at any pigeons. Many times the reports scare the birds from their course and cause them to lose a decisive race.

There is a state law against shooting pigeons which carries as a penalty from $10 to $15 fine and three months imprisonment. But club owners say that they would rather not have to use the law, as the sportsmanship in the average man should keep him from shooting pigeons.

FEW HERDS MAKE HIGH RECORDS DURING AUGUST

TUBBS HERD AT HEAD OF CICERO AUGUST TESTING

Cow of Wilmer Mory Holds High Record for Month in Association

Out of 576 cows tested in August in the Cicero-Black Creek Cow Testing association, according to the monthly report of record of the official tester, only 11 produced 40 pounds of butterfat or more. Thirty-three herds of the association were tested, and 12 averaged about 23 pounds of butterfat. The average herd of the association produced 22 1/2 pounds of fat during the month.

The 18 cows of Frank Tubbs' herd had the highest herd average for the month, producing an average of 30 1/2 pounds of butterfat, and an average of 1,018 pounds of milk per head; thirty-one cows in the herd of Guy Daniels ranked second highest in the association with an average production of 28 1/2 pounds of butterfat and 596 pounds of milk. A cow in the herd of Wilmer Mory won high herd record for August, producing 50 1/2 pounds of butterfat and 738 pounds of milk. The monthly record of cows producing more than 40 pound fat follows:

FARM PRICE TREND STILL DOWNWARD

General Level of Prices Has Declined When Compared With Year Ago

The general level of prices for farm products declined to 132 per cent of the pre-war level of August 15, continuing the drop which carried it from 139 in June to 135 in July, according to the monthly price index of the Department of Agriculture. This is 20 points or about 13 per cent lower than in August last year. This index of 132 is the lowest reached in nearly two years.

Small price gains in cotton and grains were more than offset by declines in the meat animal and fruit and vegetable groups. Farm prices of corn advanced about 11 per cent from July 15 to Aug. 15 while the price of hogs dropped about eight points. With July 15 farm prices, the price of 100 pounds of hogs was equivalent to the price of nearly 18 bushels of corn, while Aug. 15 this ratio was reduced to less than 15 bushels which is the lowest since November, 1925. The farm price of rice increased seven per cent and the price of potatoes dropped nearly twenty per cent.

LUDEMANN COW IS HIGHEST IN NEENAH TESTING

Northern Hospital Animal Ranks Second in August Records of Association

A cow owned by F. W. Ludemann holds the high average in the Neenah Cow Testing association, with a production of 66 7/8 pounds of butterfat and 1,265 pounds of milk during the month of August. A Northern hospital cow ranked second, producing 62 7/8 pounds of butterfat, and 1,242 pounds of milk. Seven herds averaged more than 30 pounds of butterfat during the 30 day period in the Neenah association. The herd of William Beck heads the list with an average production of 36 5/8 pounds of butterfat and 654 pounds of milk the records follow:

BACON HOGS NEED BALANCED RATION

Protein Feeds Are Required During Growing Period of Animal

A serious condition exists in the raising of hogs in Wisconsin which should be brought to the attention of all raisers of swine, according to F. B. Hansen, field representative of the Wisconsin Live Stock and Meat Improvement Council.

"I am referring to the idea more or less general, that bacon hogs can exist on a very lean ration consisting of grass and milk or whey, sometimes fed in combination, and sometimes not," said Mr. Hansen. "The results have been what one might expect, very lean tough, and immature carcasses."

"It seems to me that with the start we have made in Wisconsin in buying and producing good breeding stock, it will be fatal to allow any misconceptions to prejudice the local butchers or packers against bacon breeds, and this will eventually hurt such feeding practices are persisted in. I am asking your co-operation wherever possible to emphasize the need of a balanced ration consisting primarily of protein feeds during the early growing period. This will mean that where milk is fed it can be supplemented with middlings and ground oats in equal parts, with an addition of barley as time goes on."

"Pasture, and by that I mean alfalfa or clover preferably, should be supplied simultaneously. From my observations, I have come to the conclusion that pigs do better, even where they are already receiving these recommended feeds, by an addition of 5 per cent tankage, 5 per cent oil meal and a sufficient supply of mineral in the form of salt and wood ashes."

"Wisconsin farmers must realize that hog production is a science and the time is past when they can expect to get as much for a product derived from scavengers or grass hogs as from hogs which have been fed a proper balanced ration. It is scandalous to observe the care expended on brood sows just at the time of farrowing. No provision whatever is made in most cases for a clean far-

BEET OUTLOOK IS REPORTED GOOD

Crop Is Now in Splendid Condition, County Agent Amundson Finds

Indications are that beet production for the county for 1926 will be slightly above a low average and the crop is apparently in splendid condition although the harvest will not commence until early in October, it was reported by County Agent Robert Amundson on Saturday.

The only adjacent sugar factory is at Green Bay and the company has contracted at $5.50 a ton for the entire Outagamie-co beet production this year, it was stated.

Amount of land under this form of cultivation varies greatly from year to year but probably, Mr. Amundson said, in the neighborhood of 1,500 acres were seeded last spring.

Appearances would indicate about a 9 ton yield to the acre, he said. Eight to 10 tons to the acre is approximate average production for this section, records show.

TAKE SLOW MOVIES OF NURMI'S EXHIBIT RACE

Berlin (AP)—Runners soon will be able to study closely the tramping and running methods of Paavo Nurmi, "The Flying Finn."

During the champion runner's recent exhibition races in Berlin, a film company induced him to pose for a one act reel. This is soon to be exhibited. Nurmi, who is of a retiring disposition, at first was unwilling to be "shot," but finally he yielded when he was convinced that he would render a service to other devotees of the cinder path.

Slow motion, with which the film abounds, will enable aspiring athletes to study the champion's every motion and observe the beauty and exactness of his stride.

Some of the malaria-carrying mosquitoes themselves die of the disease. The Salvation Army was organized in London in 1895.

FAMED FOR BISCUITS

Columbia, Mo.—Annie Fisher, Columbia's highly respected negro "mammy," bakes biscuits all day long, for the demand for her products has reached as far as Wall-st. Every student who ever attended the university knows Annie Fisher, through her cooking. She receives large orders for biscuits from graduates.

The glass roof of the Victoria station in London covers 19 acres.

Following are the monthly records of the high herds in the Cicero-Black Creek Cow Testing association:

PERCENTAGE OF DECREASE

Of the more important farm products for which prices have been determined, only five are 150 per cent of the price received by farmers during the pre-war period of 1909 to 1914, or equivalent to the level of wholesale prices of non-agricultural products, which was 150 per cent of the pre-war level for July. The five year period, 1909-1914, is used as the base of 100 for the index of prices of agricultural products. The farm prices of the five farm products expressed as percentages of the pre-war average are: hogs, 161; wool, 179; lambs, 185; chickens, 194; and potatoes, 202 per cent. At the other extreme are horses, 56 per cent; barley, 89; oats, 95; rye, 120; beef cattle, 121; eggs, 123; and corn, 124 per cent of the pre-war average.

The purchasing power of agricultural products is also down, dropping to 85 in July which is the lowest level since December 1924. Decreases in purchasing power are recorded for grains, fruits and vegetables and cotton and cotton seed. Meat animals held their own and dairy products advanced a point.

LONDON PAPER PREDICTS STREETS 150 FEET WIDE

London (AP)—Peering into the future, the current issue of "Building" sees London streets at least 150 feet in width.

The magazine says the streets of the far wider than anything the present generation can show and that the principal streets will certainly not be less than 50 yards across. "The only other alternative is to construct two decker streets, but this is unthinkable in London, although many important streets will probably have to be rearranged as to levels so as to pass over or under the streets of equal importance," says "Building."

The magazine insists on the present necessity of laying down deliberate plans for the process of expansion, in order that the changes which are inevitable may not add to the existing chaos of the London streets.

CROWDS ATTEND
LEGION PICNIC
AT MAPLE GROVESenator Gerald P. Nye of North Dakota Delivers Address

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—After two days of continuous rain and cloudy weather, Labor day's program was presented with excellent picnic weather and the Legionaires who sponsored the celebration at Maple Grove were splendidly repaid for their work and preparation of the past weeks by the crowd which attended.

Events of the afternoon included an address by Senator Gerald P. Nye of North Dakota, a ball game and dance. Concessions of various sorts gained their share of patronage, and the bugle and drum corps gave a short program with Clayton Holmes directing.

Sensor Nye, who was introduced by Edward Brown of the Legion, addressed an open air audience on Americanism. Our greatest enemies are within. Danger to us does not come from the laborers or from our farmers but from the moneyed powers who hold our future in their hands. While his talk was without political party trend, Senator Nye in closing begged his audience to act as behooves good Americans in regard to the coming election; to learn to recognize and distinguish between those factors which are dangerous and of benefit to your country.

"Acquaint yourself with the men who represent you. Know that there are those who have served their country in that truer sense and who have striven always to the truest end. America can only rectify her inward restlessness by removing the cause. When the farmer and the exacting are given justice restlessness will have subsided," he concluded.

The flying event proved to be a failure, for the aviator, flying low over the grove and surrounding fields early in the day, could find no suitable landing place and so cancelled his appointment to take up passengers.

The only harmless way to bleach the skin white is to mix the juice of two lemons with three ounces of Orchard White, which any druggist will supply for a few cents. Shake well in a bottle, and you have a whole quarter-pint of the most wonderful skin whitener, softener and beautifier.

Massage this sweetly fragrant lemon bleach into the face, neck, arms and hands. It can not irritate. Famous stage beauties use it to bring that clear, youthful skin and rosy-white complexion, also as a freckle, sunburn and tan bleach. You must mix this remarkable lotion yourself. It can not be bought ready to use because it acts best immediately after it is prepared.

The Home Hot Blast Furnace

If you desire all heating essentials embodied in one furnace, just buy a HOME. It is the last word in furnaces. There is but one regret and that is that you haven't installed one long ago. I speak authoritatively, being familiar with other makes. I am more than pleased to have a HOME Furnace in my home. I can heartily recommend it to any one.
HARRY E. BARR,
1611 North Fourth Street,
Springfield, Illinois.

Works Without Watching

THROUGH the silent watches of the winter night—hour after hour—without watching—the HOME-heated home is cozy and snug.

Due in part to the wonderful HOME construction; self-cleaning grates; that grind up the clinkers; breast-high shaker lever that easily keeps the fire clean; big fire pot and hot blast ring that permit a slow, deep fire with the gases all consumed—

All these tend to make the HOME Hot Blast Furnace as dependable as a grandfather clock.

But back of this matchless heating plant is the guarantee of the factory that made it. Before the plant itself is installed, a skilled factory engineer makes a preliminary survey and plan. And so skillfully does he do his work that there will not be a single cold corner left in the house.

The owner, too, knows before hand that his furnace will keep him comfortable. The five-year heating warranty guarantees that.

You will be pleasantly surprised with the healthfulness of HOME Hot Blast heat, as have hundreds upon hundreds of other satisfied owners. Wouldn't it be a good plan to call our local factory service branch manager at once? His telephone number is below.

SHOW PUREBREDS
AT CALUMET FAIR

Holsteins and Ayrshires Are Among Prize Exhibits at Chilton

Forest Junction—Nineteen head of purebred Holstein cattle, and thirteen purebred Ayrshires were exhibited by breeders of this vicinity at the Calumet-co fair on Monday and Tuesday.
The Holsteins exhibited by Leonard and Edwin Seybold and Frank Kloebe
were shipped from here on Saturday morning, while the Ayrshires exhibited by Robert J. Hacker were brought directly to Chilton from the Northwestern Wisconsin fair at DePere,
where they were on exhibition last week.

FAMOUS SIRE EXHIBITED
Among the Holsteins were two bulls owned jointly by the breeders. One of them was Racine-Walker-Johanna, 170983, thirteen years old, ancestor of 88 other Holsteins on exhibit at the fair. The other was Johanna Rag Apple Pabst II, 18 months old, a son of Rag Apple Pabst Johanna, which was sold from the J. E. Pick farm at Hartford last spring for $15,000.

Surprise of Arcadia, a seven-year-old cow, was included in the Ayrshire exhibit. At DePere, this animal was displayed in the aged cow class, taking first place in class, and both the senior and grand championships. This cow has a milk record of 15,200 pounds and 585 pounds of butter fat
in 300 days.

HOGS AND BEES WIN
In addition to honors won by the breeders mentioned in the line of dairy cattle numerous first prizes were also taken on Chester White swine.

In the apary department, the Otto Apary Co. of this place won first prize on comb honey in competition against three other bee-keepers of the STAGE

And SCREEN

"RANSON'S FOLLY"
Richard Barthelmess, well loved for his dramatic and appealing characterizations on the screen, scored another triumph in Richard Harding Davis popular story, "Ranson's Folly," a First National picture directed by Sidney Olcott, at the Elite theatre last night. "Dick" has never looked better
and his portrayal of the lovable, devil-may-care officer who is always getting into scrapes in his search for excitement is exceptionally vivid. The story is laid in the colorful atmosphere
of a Western army post in the adventurous 80's and is replete with excitement, thrills and dramatic action

which display Barthelmess' talent to the full.
Dorothy Mackaill, who plays the part of Mary Cahill, the post trader's daughter, gives a delightful performance and there is a rare grace and delicacy about her portrayal. This is the fourth time that Miss Mackaill has played opposite Mr. Barthelmess, the last time being in "Shore Leave,"
which won such popular approval.
A great brush fire sweeps across the prairie, envelops the magazines
where the ammunition is stored, and threatens to blow the post to atoms.
This is shown in scenes of the utmost intensity with a climax in which Bar-
thelmess reaches dramatic heights.
But after the fire Ranson, bored by the inactivity of the post, plans to hold up the stage coach on a bet in the guise of a well known highway-
man. The same night the paymaster of the fort is held up and robbed, and his driver is apparently killed by a road agent in the same disguise. Ranson is accused and in the court-martial which follows the outcome is shrouded in mystery, but there is a denouement that is as satisfactory as it is unexpected.
Sidney Olcott has done an excellent piece of work with "Ranson's Folly." Commendation goes, too, to a cast that is in every respect capable.
This picture is showing at the Elite
theatre for the last times Wednesday.

ELAINE HAMMERSTEIN IN NEW
- ROLE

"One Glorious Night," the new Columbia feature picture, which will come to the New Bijou Wednesday and Thursday is a story of the mistake of a young girl made in entering a hasty marriage. She was born with an appreciation of the finer things in life, but circumstances had made her a shop girl subject to the whims and fancies of customers who did not know what they wanted, it being that all she met a man who fell in love with her and offered her all the things that she had always dreamed of. A private yacht, motor cars, a wonderful home with a continuous succession of parties, dinners and dances. The fly in the ointment was her husband's mother, who held the pursestrings and who was vain and ambitious. She had been very much disappointed in her son not having made a brilliant match and did all she could to make her daughter-

in-law uncomfortable. The final straw was her statement that she would not tolerate any grand-children in her home.
Elaine Hammerstein rises to new heights in this picture and is admirably supported by Al Roscoe and a large company of competent actors.

Later Mr. and Mrs. Paronto adopted Edith Rath, now a trained nurse practicing in Milwaukee, as their daughter. Mr. Paronto was an alderman of the Third ward for two terms. He moved his family to his farm on Bear Lake in 1913 and specialized in breeding full blooded cattle. In 1918 he returned to Waupaca and acted as state potato inspector for several years. In 1922 he once more was elected mayor, holding the office for two terms. In the fall of 1925 he was in ill health and he sold his place of business and retired. He failed to improve much and three weeks before his death he was sent to his bed.

Two Minute Hair Dress

By Edna Wallace Hopper

That curl in my hair, that fluff and that glow are due to no expert's attention. I have no time for a hairdresser, and never have a Marcel wave.

Twice a week I apply a hair dress which great experts made especially for me. I have never found anything else to compare. My hair is always curly, always glowing.

Now I am placing this great hair dress at every woman's call. All toilet counters supply it as Edna Wallace Hopper's Wave and Shown. My guarantee comes with each bottle. Unless it delights you, unless it doubles the beauty of your hair in an hour, ask for your money back. Get it now. It will be a find.

M. E. MINISTERS ARRIVING HERE FOR CONFERENCE

First Session of Annual Meeting Starts Tuesday Afternoon

A few ministers had registered at First Methodist church for Tuesday for the eighteenth annual session of the Wisconsin Conference of Methodist Episcopal churches which opens here Tuesday and will continue until Sept. 13. It is believed that many ministers delayed their start to Appleton because they wished to vote before leaving home. They were expected to arrive in large numbers Tuesday afternoon.

The board of home missions was the first committee of the conference to hold a private meeting and this session informally opened the conference at 2:30 Tuesday afternoon. The board allotted money to the various small missions in the state.

A successor to Dr. J. H. Tippet, of Appleton as corresponding secretary of the commission, was recommended by the board of Conference Claimants Commission at its meeting at 4 o'clock.

The board of examiners and under graduates will meet at 4:30 Tuesday afternoon. This board examines applicants for the ministry in the Wisconsin conference.

Dr. Lucius Bugbee of Minneapolis, Minn., will be the speaker at the meeting of the itinerants' club at Hotel Northern at 5:30. The meeting will be preceded by a banquet. All pastors and their wives are invited to attend this meeting.

HEAVY VOTE IS REGISTERED IN RURAL PRECINCTS

Experts Say Total Vote in County May Reach 15,000 Today

With literally hundreds of automobiles waiting to take them to the polls and the probability that "Good Republican Weather" would prevail throughout the day, voters of Outagamie-co. indications were shortly after noon, intended to turn out to within a few hundreds of the total polling strength.

It is not by any means possible, experts averred, that final figures Wednesday will surpass any that have ever been noted in the county. That the figure may reach 15,000 votes is the expectation in some quarters.

Two preponderant state issues, one in the senate field and the other in the gubernatorial campaign, will have brought out one of the largest primary votes in the history of the state seems to be the popular opinion.

Up to noon Tuesday County Clerk John E. Hantschel had received the unprecedented number of 152 ballots cast under the Absent Voters act. This reflects unusual interest in the issues if nothing more, Mr. Hantschel said.

Polling places in the outlying sections of the county opened at 8 o'clock in the morning and the last was to close at 6 in the evening.

Returns from the county will start reaching Appleton about 7 o'clock, it is expected.

Mr. and Mrs. William Lueckel and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Minschmidt and son, Lyle, spent Labor day at Marinette.

BRING HOME BODY OF APPLETON MAN SLAIN IN MEXICO

Remains of Rex McIlhorne to Be Interred in Cemetery Here

The body of Rex McIlhorne, 1032 W. Elsie-st., who was brutally murdered by Mexican bandits last March is expected to arrive in Appleton for final burial sometime Wednesday, it was reported by the family Tuesday.

Word has been received from the State Department at Washington, they said, that the body was sent from Ixtlan, Mex., Sept. 3, reached Nogales, Ariz., Sept. 6, and was expected to arrive in Chicago on Wednesday. On March 14, 1926, Mr. McIlhorne, who was office manager of the Utah Construction company, through its subsidiary company the American Bridge company, operating out of Ixtlan, left with a party of five other men for a headquarters camp in the Mexican state of Jalisco.

The party left Ixtlan in three pairs, one pair preceding Mr. McIlhorne and a companion while the third pair followed at intervals of one-half an hour. The men intended to board a private construction rail motor-car at a point about one mile from the city.

The first duo arrived in safety; the third found Mr. McIlhorne and his companion lying in the path. Mr. McIlhorne already dead and his companion, a Mr. Heidenkamp, in a precarious condition. Heidenkamp, still alive, was not questioned on account of the seriousness of his injuries, but it was assumed that bandits knowing of Mr. McIlhorne's responsible position with the company, and the fact that he often carried large sums of money with which to pay workmen, purposely waylaid the pair.

The pockets of both men had been rifled and their small jewelry stolen. It was reported.

The Utah Construction company buried Mr. McIlhorne at Ixtlan but immediate steps were taken by the family, friends and lodge brothers, through Congressman George Schneider, and Frank B. Kellogg, secretary of state and other to start the machinery of Mexican government moving so that Mr. McIlhorne might be returned to his home for final burial rites.

Considerable correspondence resulted between the secretary of state and the governor of the state of Nayarit in Mexico before official sanction was given for the removal.

The meagre facts supplied in the investigation were relayed to Appleton through the congressman, and Mr. Kellogg.

The body of the dead American, late reports stated, will reach Chicago Wednesday morning, be transferred from the C. M. and St. P., railroad to the C. and N. W. line and brought immediately to Appleton. It was considered probably that a relative would leave Appleton late Tuesday to meet the train and conclude final shipping arrangements.

Although all details of funeral arrangements had not been completed it was tentatively announced that the services would be held at 8:30 Thursday morning at St. Mary church, with burial in St. Mary cemetery. The Rev. W. J. Fitzmaurice is expected to be in charge.

Falbearers had not been selected but Knights of Columbus probably will serve, it was said.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

A friend of my sister's told of the good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done her, and my sister bought me two bottles of it. Watch Elimination!

Good Health Requires Good Elimination.

RETENTION of bodily waste matter in the blood is referred to as a "toxic condition." This often gives rise to a dull, languid feeling, and sometimes toxic backaches and headaches. That the kidneys are not functioning perfectly at such times is often shown by burning or scanty passage of secretions. Many people have learned to assist their kidneys in ridding the blood of these toxic products by drinking plenty of pure water and the occasional use of a stimulant diuretic. Doan's Pills are a stimulant diuretic and act on the kidneys only. They have earned a national reputation. Ask your neighbor!

VANITY CASE

© 1926 by G-P-PUTNAM SONS

MRS. PRENTISS sees mysterious lights in the Heath household next door one night, and the next day Harbor Gardens, Long Island, is agog with the murder of MYRA HEATH and the disappearance of her husband PERRY.

House guests of the Heaths are LAWRENCE INMAN, heir to Myra's fortune, and BUNNY MOORE, vivacious, golden-haired, to whom suspicion points because of her strange.

Myra Heath never used rouge never wore colors, yet when her body was found she was heavily rouged. She had a main for collecting glass, and it was a rare old whisky bottle from her collection that the murderers used to kill her. Candles were burning at her head and feet and nearby was a card marked, "The Work of Perry Heath."

The strange thing about Heath's disappearance is that the windows and doors were locked on the inside the night before and were found that way in the morning. Finger prints of Bunny Moore and Inman were found on the bottle.

At the County Club, the murder is discussed by SAM ANDERSON, Heath's rival for the club presidency; AL CUNNINGHAM, who is trying to solve the crime, and others. TOOTHUNTER BUCK, nephew of Mrs. Prentiss and in love with Bunny, believes Heath also may have been murdered.

Bunny is amazed to get a phone call from Heath. He calls her again, saying Inman is guilty. Bunny faints under a grilling by DETECTIVE MOTT. Inman confides to Buck that he saw Bunny ascending the stairs after the murder, and Mott questions all the servants and tells them to keep silent.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

"Now, Carter," Mott went on, "tell me anything you may know about the relations of your employers. Be frank for as I forbid you people to repeat this talk, so I can promise you that I shall not repeat it, except to the officers of the law."

"Well, sir, as ladies' maid to both Mrs. Heath and Miss Moore, of course I couldn't help seeing how things went. Mrs. Heath, she was terribly in love with Mr. Inman. Mr. Heath, he knew it, and they had hot words about it, now and then."

"Did you hear them?"

"In part, sir. Sometimes Mr. Heath would come in while Mrs. Heath was dressing, and he'd bid me go in the next room and shut the door. Then I'd do so, but if they raised their voices as they sometimes did, I couldn't help hearing that they were quarrelling about Mr. Inman, even though I couldn't hear all they said. But I never mentioned it, not even to the others down here. I know my ladies that had bigger secrets than Mrs. Heath had."

"She had no big secrets, then?"

"Not what I'd call such. She liked Mr. Inman and he adored her, but they were Cousins though distant ones—and she had a right to be friendly."

"Did Mr. Heath urge her to use rouge and that sort of thing?"

"They all did call such. She would come to her dressing room and laughingly try to put some on her face. But she just said, 'No,' in that way she had, and he'd stop. Then, Miss Bunny, she was always at her to use color, and Mr. Inman, he was too. It was sort of a household joke you see."

"I see. Then, Carter, any one of those three might have applied that paint to her face after the poor lady was dead?"

"They might, sir."

"Or you might have done it yourself?"

"Why, of course I could do it sir—but I didn't. I was up in my bed, asleep."

"She was," broke in the cook, "I heard her snoring when I went down to look after Katie."

"Well, we're not suspecting you, Carter," Mott said, "we've no reason to. You surely had no motive and no opportunity to kill your mistress."

"The saints forbid!" said Carter, fervently.

"I can tell you something else, sir."

Emma said, not unwilling to take the limelight again.

"All right go ahead, Emma."

Mott began to think he was getting some side-lights, if not very crucial statements.

"Well, long about twelve o'clock I thought I heard Katie comin' in."

SCENE FROM "ONE GLORIOUS NIGHT"

AT THE NEW BIJOU WEDNESDAY AND THURSDAY.

When I have to wait on her comin' in, I'm terrible wakened. Most every week she makes me let her in when it's her night out."

"Why do you do it?"

"Oh, we all like Katie. Emma gave an affectionate glance at the pretty parlor-maid. "And she's got her young man, you know, and it's a pity she should have to come in at eleven o'clock, and him such a fine feller."

It was clear to be seen that the state of "keeping company" had raised Katie to an eminence where she commanded the favors of the other servants.

"And so," Emma went on, "I stay awake like, to let her in, for Mrs. Heath gave her an awful dressin' down once when she caught her comin' in late. Then, as I was listenin' for Katie, I heard voices downstairs. I thought the family had all gone to bed, and I was thinkin' of burglars."

"Yes, you was," sneered Mrs. Pierce. "You was et up with curiosity, and you was bound to see what you could."

"All right, then," said Emma, assentingly, "anyway, I pushed open softly the upstairs door to the front hall, and I peeked over the banisters. I couldn't see anybody, but I heard the voices in the studio, and I reckoned Mr. and Mrs. Heath and Mr. Inman. I don't know whether Miss Bunny was there or not. So knowing it wasn't burglars," she gave a look at Mrs. Pierce, "I went back to bed, and waited for Katie."

"And that was between twelve and one?"

"Oh, near twelve. Not more'n quarter of past. I know, cause I thought it might like as not be a long while before Katie came."

"Well, then, if you are sure of your facts, Emma, we have proof that Mrs. Heath was alive and well at twelve-fifteen. You heard her voice, you say?"

"Yes, sir. I don't know what she was saying. I only heard her speak but she was mad, sir. That I could tell. It seemed like Mr. Heath was quarrelling with Mr. Inman and Mrs. Heath was upset over it. But I didn't get the words, only their voices."

"I see. Well, all that doesn't help much, for the doctors say Mrs. Heath was killed at about two o'clock. Though they can't tell exactly. Now, Katie, that young man of yours—he was with you in the arbor till half past one."

"Y—yes sir."

"Don't be frightened. I'm not discussing your affairs at all. Then he saw a man leave this house?"

"Not the house the grounds?"

"You've talked to Jimmy about this since?"

"Yes sir."

"Can you tell me just what he saw?"

"He says he wasn't noticing special, not thinkin' about anything but—"

"But your sweet self?"

"Well, yes, sir. And he just sorta noticed a man goin' sneakin' like through the shrubbery and out of the side gate. He says if he'd been sneakin' toward the house, he'd 'a' thought more about it, but as he was goin' away, he gave it no considerin' and he woulda forgotten about it, if this awful thing hadn't 'a' happened."

"I see, very natural, I'm sure. Now does Jimmy think the man was Mr. Heath?"

"He says he don't know. It mighta been and it mightn't it was like his size maybe, but Jimmy, just didn't take notice and it was sorta dark, anyhow."

"And then you came right in the house?"

"Yes, sir. I was just comin' in, when Jimmy saw him."

"He didn't follow him, then?"

"Oh, no sir. Jim, he went out the back gate. The man, he went through the little side gate, the one that leads to the woods."

"Then, of course, that's all you can tell about the man. Now, it seems it must have been Mr. Heath because Mr. Heath is inexplicably missing. But just as you came in, you saw Miss Moore going upstairs?"

"No, sir, it was Emma as saw her."

"Yes, so it was. Well, that looks as if Miss Moore might have let Mr. Heath out, and locked the door behind him, and gone upstairs just as Emma went up the other stairs."

"It might be, sir."

Sour Stomach

"Phillips Milk of Magnesia"
Better than Soda

Instead of soda hereafter take a little "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

For fifty years genuine "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. It neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges the souring waste from the system without purging. Besides, it is more pleasant to take than soda. Insist upon "Phillips." Twenty-five cent and fifty cent bottles, any drugstore. "Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Co. and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.

Her Tragic Mistake

THOSE who knew her would have said: "Such things don't happen to girls like Marion." She was well-educated; she had high ideals; her every thought and word were refinement itself. Yet, she was to find herself subject to the same vicissitudes of Fate that pursue all who blindly try to make right out of wrong.

It all started when she met and fell in love with Terry Dixon, who had twice been engaged to the mad-cap heiress, Helen Carlson, but who swore to Marion that his love for Helen was dead.

But often it is the unexpected that shapes human destiny.

For, having been forced by a terrible storm to seek refuge in a lonely cabin, she had scarcely crossed the threshold with Terry when she found she had taken the first step into a world of terror, desperate conflict and hideous peril.

What she went through is told by Marion herself in "Out of the Storm," in True Story Magazine for October. Don't miss this thrilling, soul-stirring, true-life narrative.

Finds True Story A Great Help

Dear Sir:

Being a minister of the Gospel, I find True Story a help in warning young people against the trials and temptations of life. If more mothers would provide this magazine for their girls to read we ministers would hear less of the sad stories of fallen girls. May God bless you in your work of helping the young by warning them of the dangers in life. If this is worth anything to you in carrying on the work, I give you permission to use this in any way you see fit. Best wishes for your continued success.

Yours very truly,

WORT TO ATTEND CONFERENCE ON RAILROAD RATES

Meeting Will Be Held at La-Salle Hotel, Chicago, Sept. 10

Roy G. Wort, manager of the traffic department of the Appleton Chamber of Commerce, will attend a conference of railroad carriers, shippers and representatives of the Interstate Commerce Commission of Washington on Friday, Sept. 10, at Chicago, to study western trunk line class rates. The meeting will be called at 10 o'clock in the morning at the LaSalle hotel.

Numerous formal complaints involving interstate class rates between certain points in western trunk line territory are now pending before the Interstate Commerce Commission, according to Mr. Wort. Some of these complaints include commodity rates and others include class and commodity rates between certain points in western trunk line territory on the one hand and official and southern territories on the other.

There also is pending an investigation instituted by the commission into class rates to and from Nebraska stations to be conducted in connection with an investigation by the state railway commission of Nebraska into the Nebraska intrastate rates. In addition the commission docketed an application of the carriers in western trunk line territory for an investigation of the class rates within that territory, filed with a view to obtaining increased revenues.

These pending proceedings and other complaints which have been heard and disposed of without prejudice to subsequent proceedings have arisen largely because of inconsistencies and lack of uniformity in the class rate structure in western trunk line territory, the commission points out.

The necessity for a comprehensive revision of the class rates in western trunk line territory has been generally recognized, and it appears that the situation cannot adequately be dealt with by piecemeal adjustments in individual cases, it is said.

For more than a year committees of carriers and shippers have been endeavoring by cooperative efforts to work out mutually satisfactory adjustment of class rates within western trunk line territory and between that territory and official territory. At the suggestion of the carriers and most of the shippers, hearing in the pending proceedings have been withheld in the hope that the pending negotiations would be successful but it now appears that, while agreement may be reached on some of the issues, there is little prospect of a complete agreement.

The commission consequently is of the view that without precluding continuance of the negotiations between the parties, it should proceed without further delay to take action looking to the early assignment of these proceedings for hearings.

The class rates adjustment in western trunk line territory and between that territory and official and southern territories presents an important and complicated problem, the commission believes. The commission's previous experience with proceedings involving rate adjustments of such wide scope led it to believe that time and expense to everyone concerned could be materially lessened, the difficulties of the commission in reaching its conclusions made less burdensome, and the proceeding more promptly and satisfactorily disposed of if plans are laid in advance to the limit the scope of the issues as much as possible.

The following questions will be considered at the conference, which will be a preliminary one:

What proceedings should be consolidated?

Is the scope of such proceedings sufficiently broad or should additional proceedings be instituted?

Should other than class rate phases of pending complaints be treated separately on a different record?

Plans for developing a complete rec-

HIGHWAY COMMISSION WILL MEET SEPT. 13

The next meeting of the highway commission will be held at the courthouse Sept. 13, it was reported Friday. Recently several special meetings have been called but it is expected that routine business can be allowed to accumulate until the resumption of regular meeting days, it was stated. What road work is being done in the county is progressing according to schedule and only very minor new work is apt to arise, it was stated.

ord as expeditiously and economically as possible also will be formulated, Mr. Wort said.

DOG WHICH BIT THREE AFFECTED BY HYDROPHOBIA

Tests Prove That Animal Shot at Seymour Had Rabies

Hydrophobia infection was received by three Appleton persons and several other persons who attended the Seymour fair, according to a report from the State Hygienic laboratory in Madison this week. A mad dog raced through the fair grounds attacking nine persons, it was said, but several of these only had their clothing torn.

Michael Trautler, 226 N. Morrison-st., Clarence Becker, N. Richmond-st., and Lawrence Hellen were the local victims, it was reported. All were given a modification of the Pasteur treatment for the prevention of hydrophobia immediately after the dog's attack, but it was not known positively at that time that the dog was infected with hydrophobia. It is not thought that the case had developed long before the day of the fair.

Treatment for hydrophobia will be continued for some time on the patients in order to entirely rid them of the infection. All the sufferers are said to be in a much improved condition now.

The dog was chased by motorcycle policemen and was shot about two hours after it had first appeared on the fair grounds.

PUT 2 CENTS ON CARDS IF YOU WRITE ON THEM

Postal cards containing written matter or a typewritten communication require 2 cents postage from the United States to Canadian points; if a return card is attached four cents postage is required, it was reported by Assistant Postmaster H. J. Francis on Saturday.

Purely printed matter postals require only 1 cent postage and 2 with the return card, it was brought out.

A recent bulletin issued by the postoffice department indicates that considerable confusion over this type of mail has arisen from time to time.

Especially where firms send out typewritten postal cards advertising literature care should be taken to understand the situation, Mr. Francis said.

No Disgrace For Girl To Work Today

It will be hard for the present generation to believe that 25 years ago it was a disgrace for a girl to work, a social disgrace, that is. She might have an artistic taste equal to a worth or a Paquin, but let her put a bow on a hat and sell it or design a dress and turn it into money, and she was a "goner" as far as society was concerned.

It was perfectly fine and lovely if her artistic sense expressed in paint instead of ribbons or foulard, and she put her ideas on canvas—or china.

ARTISTS WERE LADIES
Then she was feted and dined and danced with and could go to places the rest of her family couldn't go, because she was a celebrity—more or less. At least she was an artist. She could sing or play or paint or, let me say—eloquence—I think that's about all—and still be a lady. Off in the dim distance there was a cloud the size of a man's head—the forerunner of professional women. But nobody heard of them to speak of much.

If you wished to be a lady you came home from boarding school and sat down and let dad keep you the best he could, and if you helped with beds and dishes, you pretended you didn't.

One girl who was a little ahead of her time wouldn't sit down. She had wanted to be a doctor, but a slip-up back home.

She packed her own bag and went to a hospital to study nursing. Her friends were aghast. They protested: "They begged!"

GOLDEN AGE BEGINNING
People were undecided about trained nursing in those days. They had not quite placed it. Did it belong with the hats or the paintings? Well, the girl had a career after all, and now she has another profession—writing!

The girl of today doesn't know what a blessing it is that she lives in an age where there is no stigma and no reflection on social standing. And on the other hand, the socially favored need have no inhibitions about work. They say the Golden Age is over. It's just come!

TOMATOES ONLY NEW INGREDIENT IN SALAD
London—(AP)—British food experts who have been making a special study of the history of salads say the tomato is the single new ingredient modern times have contributed to salad making.

The Pharaohs—even the beautiful Cleopatra—ate onions in large quantities in their salads and used garlic and other high scented ingredients. Confucius ate cucumbers and the ancient Chinese used mustard, oyster sauce and natural leaves and flowers in mixing their elaborate salads, which often contained hard boiled eggs.

Ancient Persia was also very fond of salad making. Sour wine, not unlike modern vinegar, was used on lettuce by the Persians four thousand years ago.

MARY PICKFORD LIKES BOBBED HAIR ON OTHERS
Paris—(AP)—Mary Pickford is a strong advocate of bobbed hair—but not for herself.

"It is so much easier for a woman to have short hair," she said, "there are no harpins always jamming into the head and the question of shampooing is much simplified. Now I have to give up one entire day a week to my hair."

"But the public knows me by my long hair and I could never screen with bobbed hair for my appearance would not be the same. However, if I ever retire from the movies I certainly shall have my hair bobbed and enjoy the comfort that so many thousands of American women now take as a matter of course."

DRESSING TWINS ALIKE FASHIONABLE IN LONDON
London—(AP)—Lord and Lady Ruthven's twin daughters, Alison and Margaret, have revived the old custom of dressing alike. Other noted twins observing this style lately include the daughters of the widowed Lord George Scott.

Queen Alexandra dressed her three daughters alike when they were little girls, but the fashion became obsolete in England before Queen Victoria died. Now the pendulum has swung back.

PRETTY MODEL PREFERS THRILLS TO LUXURY SHE KEEPS RECORDS OF ADVENTURES

Seattle—Would you trade a five-pound box of candy for the thrill of handling the throttle on the Fast Mail?

Would you swap a night in a gay cabaret for the excitement of diving into the ocean from the top deck of an ocean liner?

Questions like those continually confront Miss Peggy Maddieux, known as the Pacific northwest's most popular model.

For a year she has been swapping soft luxuries for keen thrills—and thinks she's had all the best of the bargain.

For a life full of adventure, be a model winosopher, she advises.

To prove her point she has kept a "thrill-diary," recording the adventures she has had posing for expensive frocks, cute bathing suits, and for stunt pictures for automobile dealers, shipping lines, advertising agencies, newspapers, railroads, pageants and department stores.

And here's a list of the thrills she got:

Eight airplane trips; 18 banquets; dives from seven docks; the display of 232 new frocks; the wearing of 38 varied styles of bathing suits; the climbing of three high electric signs; posing for 137 pictures; trips in 18 brand new automobiles; clambering up a 250-foot stack; working as a traffic cop and a city fireman; and winning four beauty contests.

You know all about models of course. They . . . well, they don't. Peggy lives with her mother, takes exercise every day, hasn't been engaged and doesn't want to be—yet—has sworn off candy, cigarettes and cabaret dinners, works eight hours a day and is in bed at 9-30 sharp, every evening.

Over her boudoir mirror is a motto. It says: "Thrills all day and sleep all night. That's the way to be happy and bright."

Mrs. Martha Krantz

Prominent Lady Gets Relief After Five Years Of Rheumatism

Was so bad at times she couldn't even walk or raise her arms. Gained complete relief after taking Drecto for six weeks.

"For over five years I suffered so with rheumatism that every joint and muscle in my body ached," says Mrs. Martha Krantz, 2408 Larkyns Way, South Side, Pittsburgh, Pa.

"I was unable to do any of my housework and for months at a time was not able to help around. At such times I couldn't walk or even raise my arms to my head. I had to be helped from my bed six or seven times a night to relieve my kidneys. Losing so much sleep made me nervous and cross and even a chair scraping across the floor would irritate me.

"I was always constipated and had a stale taste in my mouth and a coated tongue. I was subject to severe headaches and suffered so with my stomach I lost all appetite for food, which made me lose lots of weight. Believe me, I was a very sick woman and I didn't believe there was a thing in the world that would help me.

"Then I learned of Drecto and in six weeks this wonderful remedy has made me completely well. I'm enjoying my meals better than I have in years and never have the least trouble with indigestion or constipation afterwards. The headaches have vanished entirely. I can almost cry for joy now that Drecto has made me well and I recommend it to everyone I meet."

BLOUSES AGAIN POPULAR FOR WINTER WEAR

Among the hats which will be prominent this fall are wide-brimmed models of black velvet, simply trimmed. While small hats with highly draped cloaks are among the new imports from Paris, American women, especially those in the misses class, will undoubtedly cling to large hats for dress wear for early fall. Boyish felt shapes continue to rule for sports wear.

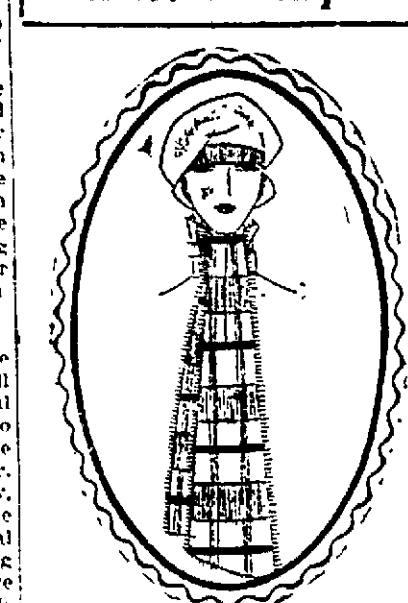

EVERYTHING IS BLOUSED
Blouse and bolero treatments are found on most of the early fall dresses designed for day and formal wear. Where the blouse adds width to the upper portion of the dress the skirt is almost invariably slender. Full, flaring skirts, on the contrary, often accompany the bolero. The sleeveless bolero designed for formal occasions is posed over a form-fitting bodice. The bolero extends above the normal waist line. A sash is worn about the normal waist trying at one side and the full skirt flares at the hem line.

Beaded taffeta evening gowns are among the unusual fall models which follow the bouffant lines of period frocks. One particularly beautiful model is fashioned of gold and bronze changeable taffeta beaded in gold and bronze beads. The bodice is slender, following the line of the bust and narrowing at the waist line, with horizontal rows of beadwork forming a girdle effect just below the normal waist line.

WIDER SKIRTS
The skirt, which gathers on at the waist, is widened at the hem, where horizontal and alternate rows of gold and bronze beadwork extend to the knees. Black taffeta frocks, beaded in white crystals, are also shown for dinner occasions.

Organdy dresses have suddenly appeared in numbers. Ecru blond shades posed over black slips and worn with black satin bows with streamer ends will be dissolved entirely.

Fashion Plaques

A new scarf seen at Cannes is of plaid silk fringed at the edges, long and narrow and worn caravat fashion.

posed at the side front are those most noted. A typical frock of this sort, made of blond organdy, has a semi-fitted bodice of normal waist length with a full gathered skirt finished with an 8-inch hemstitched hem. Under this is worn a slender black satin slip. The sleeves may

ONE SIDE LONG; ONE SIDE SHORT; LATEST "BOB"

Paris—What is called the "bias bob" has come to Paris. It is a fashion of cutting the hair by which one side is shingled and one side is left long, in order that the fair demoiselle may have long hair or short, as she wishes, at the same time.

The fashion was brought here from New York, by Vivian Martin, the American dancer, and is one of many indications that it is America which creates styles nowadays and Paris which follows.

But whatever its origin, the bias bob has taken Paris by storm, even though it is taking women some time to learn how to slant their heads properly so the exciting bias line shows to the best advantage. However, if it is making the women happy, it is driving the barbers crazy.

Service With A Smile

When you give your ad to the Post-Crescent, the ad-taker with whom you talk will treat you with as much attention and courtesy as though yours were the only ad that would appear in the paper.

The Post-Crescent's force of ad-takers, on the telephone and at the counter, have only one object in their work-to get the results that you want.

Their time is yours. They are busy people, but they are never too busy to talk over your ad problem and make suggestions about the wording that will get the best results.

You get two things when you talk to the A-B-C ad-taker-intelligent service that is the result of thorough training, and genuine courtesy. After you've phoned an ad, you'll remember the "service with a smile."

Prove this the next time you have a want or an offer to make known.

Decide Political Issues In Primary

that made by Mr. Kelly during the closing days. Governor Blaine always known as a "wet" has made an appeal to the voters through a heavy advertising campaign assuring them he will do everything possible to bring about the return of beer.

PROHIBITION MODIFICATION

In his declaration regarding the wet question Senator Lenroot said when he was elected to office he swore to support the constitution, that he intended to support the constitution whether nominated or defeated. If it is the will of the people, he will work for modification of the Volstead act.

Governor Blaine is the leader of what is known as the Blaine-LaFollette ticket, a state which has been attacked as what is termed the "Madison Ring" by those opposed to it. Hermon L. Ekern, attorney general, is the Blaine La Follette leader of the state ticket. There is a division in the progressive camp with Ed Zimmerman leading the opposition to the Blaine-LaFollette ticket as gubernatorial candidate. Mr. Zimmerman waged his campaign on the basis that the present state administration is controlled by a small group of men who are following the footsteps of those who caused Robert M. LaFollette to make his spectacular fight against the political leaders in Madison several decades ago.

CONGRESSIONAL FIGHT

There are several interesting congressional fights being settled while four Republican candidates will go into the November race as unopposed in the primary. This group is headed by Henry Allen Cooper of Racine, dean of the Wisconsin congressional delegation, and includes John M. Nelson, Madison, manager of the LaFollette-Wheeler presidential campaign in 1924; John C. Schafer, Milwaukee, and James A. Frear, Hudson.

The complexion of the state legislature will be determined at the ballot box Tuesday. During the last session there was almost an even division in the senate as between the administration and the opposition. The administration, however, was victorious in the election of the speaker and the majority in the assembly.

NO DEMOCRATIC CAMPAIGN

There is no campaign in the Democratic ranks, the convention system having decided who shall be the Democratic nominee for the several offices. Virgil H. Cady is the Democratic candidate for governor. The Democrats need 16,000 votes at the primary that their candidates may carry party designation at the November election. If 16,000 Democratic ballots are not cast, the Democrats will run as independents.

ARREST DRIVER ON DRUNKENNESS CHARGE

Neenah—Roy Flynn and Jack Hill, Red Grinnell, will be arraigned before O. E. Baldwin, justice of the peace, Wednesday morning, on charges of driving an automobile while intoxicated and with drunkenness, respectively. Hill, according to Neenah police, was riding with Flynn in the latter's car when they were arrested.

HOOVER READY WITH HIS PLAN FOR AVIATION

Expects Airplanes to Be as Numerous as Busses in Few Years

BY CHARLES P. STEWART

Washington—Airplanes will be at least as common as motor busses within a couple of years at the outside, they think at the commerce department.

Secretary Hoover has a habit of thinking out his plans to the last detail before he says anything about them for public consumption. When he does finally announce a plan, it's fully completed and he's ready to put it through in short order.

It was thus with his plan for commercial aviation development. "One day hardly anybody knew there was such a plan. The next day, there it was, full fledged, with experts already started on the job of making it a reality.

Establishing an air line is no such lengthy undertaking as building a railroad. The commerce department must provide considerable ground equipment. Regulations will have to be evolved. But all this can be done rapidly, in comparison with the slow work of surveying a surface road, tearing down hills, building up hollows, constructing culverts, bridging rivers, laying rails and getting rolling stock in motion over them.

Of course, in a sense the government's aviation program will be worked out gradually, but where "gradually" means a matter of years from a railroad standpoint, it means only months from aviation. The necessary facilities being in readiness, the commerce department simply will say to private aviation interests:

"There are your landing fields, with all the conveniences and appurtenances that go with them. There are your beacons and signposts. Here's your radio to communicate with planes in transit. There's the air. The entire business is yours free—subject to this very reasonable set of rules and regulations. Go to it."

It's been suggested, again and again, that commercial aviation can't prosper without a subsidy. Well, all this government-provided equipment is, to an extent, a subsidy.

Besides, Secretary Hoover isn't the man to go as far as he has without having satisfied himself that private flying concerns—for he's dead set against governmental commercial aviation—can make money at it, know they can and are ready to go ahead with it.

Experts expect to see the plane cutting in decidedly, before long, on certain classes of railroad. Captain James V. Martin, one of the foremost of them, predicts, for instance, that not much more railroad building will be done in future. He thinks the present lines will be kept in repair, to handle such freight as coal and grain and pig iron, but he believes most of the passenger traffic and less bulky, weighty commodities will travel by air before many years are past.

It will be economical, too, he contends, for the very reason suggested previously—a plane may be relatively expensive to operate, but it operates on the freest of all roadbeds.

As for the element of danger—"There'll be accidents, yes," Congressman Fiorello H. La Guardia, a very practical aviator, told me some time ago, "but no more—maybe not so many—as there are here below—railroad and automobile."

"Only we're used to these land accidents. They don't shock us. We think of an airplane crash as something terrible. It's a new thing. That's all. To be in an airplane accident is no worse than to be in a railroad or an auto accident."

NEW VARIETY OF GRAPES SOLD HERE

Lady finger grapes, a new fine quality variety of this fruit, are for sale in practically all Appleton fruit stores at from 25 to 35 cents per pound. Red grapes are selling at from 10 to 15 cents a pound and blue grapes retail at 35 cents per basket.

Conning pears retail at from $1.35 to $2.50 per bushel and canning peaches at from $2.25 to $3.50 per bushel. Eating pears retail at from 25 to 60 cents per dozen and choice peaches sell at from 20 to 60 cents per dozen.

Cantaloupes are selling at from 10 to 75 cents apiece, depending on size and quality and there are a few watermelons on the market that are selling at 25 to 60 cents apiece. Home grown apples of every variety are now on the market and they sell at from 90 cents to $1.50 per bushel.

Oranges retail at from 25 to 35 cents per dozen; bananas at from three to four pounds for a quarter; grapefruit at from 10 to 20 cents apiece; lemons at 25 cents a dozen; plums from 10 to 30 cents a dozen.

Christians' Duty To Give Attention To Economics

It is the duty of Christians to give thought to the problems of capital and labor to the end that there will be better feeling between them. Dr. H. E. Peabody, pastor of First Congregational church, said in his annual Labor Sunday sermon last Sunday. He emphasized that neither work nor leisure is the chief end of living and that manhood and spiritual values must be made supreme to make America truly great and safe.

"We are all children of the Heavenly Father who rules and manages this world of His," Dr. Peabody said. "He manages it so as to provide for all his creatures—flowers, birds and particularly men. Therefore he said 'Don't worry! Be not anxious for food and clothing.' Serve Him first and the kingdom and His righteousness and He will see that you will have all that you need of these things. He will take care of that. Don't you worry! That is a great background for a Christian's thinking on Labor Sunday. Whatever we forget let us not forget that God will provide us with plenty of both work and leisure if we humans will just serve Him and His righteousness first and all the time we will manage to keep the Golden Rule with each other."

"Herbert Hoover has been saying that America is equipped with all its machinery in factory, mine and farm—that America is equipped to produce twice as much as will supply all the wants of our physical life, twice as much in goods as we know how to use. We might speak of wheat, corn and cotton. To specify just one commodity, coal, soft coal. There is about 50 per cent more capital invested, and 50 per cent more coal miners working than are needed to supply our wants in coal. The result is that we have over production and periodically we have to shut down the coal mines and thousands of miners are thrown out of work because of lack of orders. And that situation in greater or less degree is true of a score of other kinds of goods. Here is the vicious circle. We produce so much that prices fall unreasonably. The industry is paralyzed, unemployment abounds and there is widespread human suffering and then of course bitter strife ensues for a living share of the goods which are bursting our warehouses, but which the people have not the money to buy. And that sort of thing keeps recurring decade after decade in a series of business inflation and business depression. Chills and fever! Surely a sad spectacle of bungling in the work of making our living. Indeed we have much to learn about work as well as about leisure."

NOT A NECESSITY
"Some people try to tell us it is economic law and necessity that we should have periodic paralysis and business depressions, because we produce so much food and clothing and other goods. That is the dodging the real issue. Time and again we have improved our methods and system of managing our work and our business. And we must keep on doing it. In the old days men did their business by the clumsy system of barter, then they introduced the wonderful convenience of money and they got on a whole lot better. Our fathers used to say that financial panics were an economic necessity. But they were not. We invented the federal reserve banking system and we now have no more financial panics, not even in such a financial earthquake as a World war. But we must surely if we are Christians, go on and keep improving our system of work and business. Our present system is not especially sacred. We must overcome our bungling until it is far more sacred than it now is; and until we inherit the promise of Jesus and the purpose of the beautiful God who provided abundance for all his children who are willing to trust and obey him."

"And now about leisure. We Americans know far less about leisure and how to spend it than we know about work. And we have an unprecedented amount of leisure to spend. This problem is made more difficult because we live in a machine age. Book in offices and in mills we work at machines or are forced to keep up with machines. A man who feeds a machine all day making parts of one article gets nervously fatigued not muscularly tired. He has worked at high speed and tension—little joy and no variety in his work. And when he gets out with four or five hours leisure to spend he wants excitement. He craves thrills. And the commercialized amusements all around us are geared to feed that craving. If we get muscularly tired as our grandfathers and grandmothers did in long hours of work we would want to do quiet things, to read and to go to bed."

"We grownups mostly forget how to play actively and exercise our powers in recreation. Instead of playing ball we sit on the bleachers and watch the other fellow play the game. Instead of community singing, playing games with our children or getting up our own dramatics we go obediently to the movies and sit passively—passive as clams—and let someone else entertain us. 'Pleasure by suction and bleacher enjoyment' someone has called this passive method of spending our leisure."

"Neither work or leisure is the chief end of living. They are only tools, only means to an end. And the end is human character and happiness. We must ourselves with things. Read our newspapers and political speeches and we would think that the one thing needed to make America safe and great is for her to produce and buy and sell more things. That is not true. Manhood, human life, spiritual values need to be made supreme. The law is more than the food. The spirit and principles of Jesus need to be enthroned over both labor and capital, as the constitution of the United States is enthroned over American law. And yet every man's life must have a physical basis of material goods."

"Surely every Christian of us should be actively interested in the economic life and problems of the people. They are so essentially a part of the life and happiness of the people. The interest should be a part of our religion every day. It is rank selfishness and sin for us not to care about the distress of our brethren—our brethren, the farmers of Dakota who feed us, the weavers of New Jersey who clothe us and the coal miners of Pennsylvania who warm us. When such volcanic eruptions as the general strike in Great Britain and the weavers strike in Passaic burst forth from time to time it is sure proof that underneath through our industrial civilization there are deep hidden in many places human suffering and bungling on both sides. These must be overcome and removed and Christianity must think this thing out and work it through, or else some other religion must arise that can do it."

CARDINALS HOLD 5-POINT MARGIN

Break Even With Pirates in Crucial Series While Reds,
Cubs Split

The St. Louis Cardinals Tuesday retained a five point lead in the National League after desperate holiday attacks upon them.

St. Louis, playing Pittsburgh in a series that may decide the pennant took the morning encounter, 5 to 1, but lost in the afternoon, 4 to 2.

Cincinnati likewise broke even with Chicago. Cincinnati came from behind winning the afternoon joust, 7 to 4, after the Cubs had won, 2 to 0, in the morning.

The Reds today were half a game behind St. Louis with Pittsburgh 17 points back of the Reds.

Although the Cubs hit May, Meekler, a rookie, and Donohue but twice safely in the first game, Root doled out four hits while the Reds were making four errors. The Cincinnati batting attack woke up behind Eppa Rixey in the second game. Rixey allowed the Pirates only four hits in the morning.

to this major problem of our age. For it is they who must work it out in action. Their prime need is a temper and a spirit that will look beyond their own special business, and their own side of their own business. They must cultivate that difficult attainment—an open mind. Labor must seek to better understand capital and its serious problems. And capital must seek to understand labor and its problems. And presiding over both capital and labor must be the spirit of Christ and his Golden Rule which always remembers that the life is more than the food, that manhood is above money, and that men are of a right brothers before they are either capitalists or laborers."

Ray Kremer held the Cardinal bats in check when hits meant runs in the afternoon.

Brooklyn and Philadelphia split. The Robins hammered their way through the first game, 8 to 6. Fred Leach got a home run with the bases full for an 8 to 2 victory in the afternoon.

The standing at the top of the American League showed no change. Both the Yankees and Cleveland split doubleheaders. Ehmske stopped New York in the first game with Philadelphia, 5 to 2, but weakened when he was called upon in the second and was forced to take a 2 to 1 defeat.

Cleveland won the first against St. Louis, 7 to 6, but was nosed out in the second, 4 to 1.

Chicago alone was able to win more than one game in the day, taking two from Detroit by scores of 5 to 4, and 7 to 5. Faber celebrated his 38th birthday with a victory.

Washington won its tenth straight by defeating Boston again 2 to 1 and tied for third place with Philadelphia.
